VALUABLE REAL ESTATE,

LOCATED IN AND ADJOINING THE TOWN OF WARRENTON, N. C.

FOR SALE.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation, for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, E. E. Parham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. The premises contain about SIXTY ACRES of Land a material portion of which is within the Corporation. This, with all or a part of the furniture, &c., belonging to the same, can be purchased with the land and buildings. This property will be offered privately for sale until Wednesday the 3rd day October next, and, if not then sold, will be on that day sold, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

The Committee are fully authorized to sell, and would say that a rare chance is offered to any party wishing to purchase such property, as time sufficient, if required, will be given. Possession given immediately.

Any person or party wishing to examine the property will be shown it by E. E. Parham, the present occupant, or by any one or more of the Committee.

The Amended Constitution--The Election.

It is impossible to form any accurate conclusion yet, as to the result of the election. The indications are, that the result will be just what we urged upon the Convention, at the time that it determined to force upon the people so momentous a question as the ratification or rejection of a Constitution, in so short a time and with so little opportunity to consider it. These indications portend its rejection, upon a very small vote. The Convention ought to have known better the character of our people and the status of the Convention itself among them, than to have looked for such a ratification, even of a more perfect Constitution than the one presented them, as was every way desirable. If the Constitution therefore fails, it will be directly chargeable to the course of the majority of that body. For we think we risk nothing in saying, that if our people had believed that this was a proper time for the adoption of a Constitution entire, and had they given their sanction that the Convention should do that work, notwithstanding the objections to the instrument it would have been adopted by a large vote.

The intimation, therefore, made by a vicious press, that if the Constitution is rejected by the people, it will be because of their disloyalty and opposition to President Johnson's policy, has no foundation in truth. Neither opposition to President Johnson's policy, nor the doubt of his authority to call the Convention, have had any influence, whatever, in determining the result. If the Convention had confined itself to the specific object for which it was called, no discussion as to its powers would have arisen, and the great body of the people would have endorsed or acquiesced in its entire action. But persisting in the purpose to go beyond the wishes of the people and the specific object of the President, exhausting the Public Treasury immediately upon the heel of an expensive and not very popular Legislature, fixed an opposition to the Convention, which could not be removed, if at all, in the very short space allowed for the consideration of the Constitution.

So far from the defeat of the Constitution being caused by the disloyalty of our people or their opposition to the President's policy, we can show clearly that the amended Constitution is disloyal, that it ignores an essential feature of the President's policy, and that its ratification will exhibit more disloyalty if, indeed, such a question could be connected with it at all, than its rejection. The truth, however, is that neither the ratification nor the rejection of the amended Constitution has anything to do with the loyalty or disloyalty of the people. The unpopularity of the Convention, its persistence in doing, at this time, anything else except a full compliance with the requirements of the President, and the fact that the Convention forced upon the people the simple rejection or ratification of an important organic instrument, at a time when there were no legislative or State candidates before them to discuss its merits, necessarily forced a small vote. For never were our people so little inclined to discuss State matters as now. The incertitude, and tangled and aggravating posture of National affairs, has made them almost totally callous and indifferent to almost everything, except their immediately pressing material wants.

The only question touching immediately the amended Constitution, which excites the concern of the masses of the people, is the basis question. In the East, the Constitution will be rejected, mainly on this ground. In the West it will be ratified for the same reason. Among the intelligent classes, their votes will be more or less controlled by their opinions as to the powers of the Convention.

But suppose the Constitution is rejected, what then? Why, very little good or evil can result from it, except that the people will go to the expense of calling another very soon, and they may not get a Constitution so conservative as the one now presented to them. The rejection or ratification of the amended Constitution does not touch the question of our national status, nor will its rejection at all disturb the organic law of the State, as it existed immediately before the adoption of this new Constitution by the Convention; nor would this vote of the people at all affect the powers of the Convention or its acts or ordinances, except the ordinance adopting the Constitution. All that the Convention has done, in obedience to the policy and wishes of the President, stands as firmly as if the new Constitution had been ratified. So also does the old Constitution stand, except in any case overlooked by the Convention, in which the old Constitution conflicts with the Constitution of the United States. In a word, all that was done by the Convention, at its first session, and all that was done at the second session, will be still the law of the State, except its ordinance adopting the amended Constitution. That was the simple and only question submitted to the people in the present election, and that only can be abrogated by the vote of the people in this election.

"A large majority of the Legislature of 1864 was for peace on this basis; and but for the efforts of Gov. Vance and Gov. Graham to prevent it, and but for the threat made by Mr. Davis that he would pour troops into our State, and hang and shoot our people and make the State a desolation, the Convention would have been called, the war would have been arrested, the Union would have been restored, and millions of property and thousands of precious lives would have been saved."—Standard.

In 1864, we were in as good a position to know the state of public affairs as Mr. Holden was. With the views of Gov. Graham and Gov. Vance we believe we were better informed than Mr. Holden. And we are, at least, equally prepared to judge of the views of the Legislature as he. We, therefore, give it as our opinion that the foregoing extract from the Standard is a perversion of the truth. We believe that the Legislature of 1864, i. e. a decided majority, whatever their opinions or convictions were as to the results of the war or the fate of the Confederacy, felt in honor bound to sustain the action of the Confederate government, at any risk, and would not then have voted to call a Convention on the basis of a restoration of the Union; nor would the people of the State have done so, unless the Confederate government had first signified its purpose or willingness to favor the movement, and abandon the cause. A large majority of our people and of the Legislature felt, even at that critical period, that their sacred honor was better than life.

Gov. Graham, though convinced that the cause was hopeless, and though he exerted himself in every honorable and legitimate way to bring an end to the war—laboring earnestly to secure and make efficient the Fortress Monroe commission,—yet did not think that North Carolina could call a Convention and fulfil her pledges to the Confederacy, while such measures were pending. We believe, so strong were his convictions of the hopelessness of the cause, that he urged and insisted that the Commission to Fortress Monroe should have a carte blanche to settle, on any safe and honorable basis, the whole question. The failure mortified and distressed him. While these matters were pending, he urged warmly that, while a Convention should not be called then, the Legislature ought to continue in session, to await the development of events which might make a Convention necessary. This we understand to have been Gov. Graham's position, and, if we are incorrect, he can rectify us.

Gov. Vance was more sanguine as to the final result, and was opposed to a Convention, so long as such a movement could be construed into a hostile and dishonorable act to the Confederate government, but he saw no such unanimity on the part of the people or Legislature, in favor of a Convention, as Mr. Holden did, and, therefore, being governed by the purest patriotism to the State and the loftiest sense of obligation to the Southern cause, he doubted the policy of calling it at that period. If his position had put him in possession of all the facts which controlled Mr. Graham's judgment, the course and views of Mr. Vance would have accorded with his.

These are the facts of that period, and a very brief exposition of the views of these gentlemen on the question upon which we join issue with Mr. Holden. These gentlemen have been assailed repeatedly in this way, by Mr. Holden, upon false issues;—a misrepresentation, both here and at Washington, has been made, with the view of damaging them or putting them out of the way in his ambitious strides for power and place. Their record will stand the most searching test. Never were public men influenced by purer motives and by a higher sense of official obligation than they were, in all that they did during that critical period.

And here we desire to put to Mr. Holden the explicit interrogatory: Did he not DENY, in his paper, in 1864, that he was in favor of a Convention, to be called for such purposes as those suggested above? If our memory serves us aright, he was charged by some member of the Legislature from the West with having privately advised the calling of a Convention for the purpose of making overtures to the Federal Government,—which charge Mr. Holden, with much wrath and temper, indignantly branded as false, proceeding to arraign both the intelligence and veracity of the gentleman making the accusation! Is not this so? And more than this: Did he not deny, in 1864, that he was in favor of reconstruction? and did he not claim that he was as true to the Confederacy as any man within its borders?

The charge made against Mr. Davis, by Mr. Holden, that he threatened "to pour troops into our State, and hang and shoot our people, and make the State a desolation," is a figment of Mr. Holden's own brain. More than this, we believe the charge to be wholly false. We never heard of such a thing before, and we have seen no gentleman who ever did hear of it.—Some person, violently opposed to Mr. Holden's course, might have threatened that Mr. Davis would do so, but that Mr. Davis ever said so, we never heard, nor do we believe. Whatever may be the faults attributed to Mr. Davis, let the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, be told. Such a slander upon him, at this juncture, in his condition, is as wicked and as vicious as slandering the dead. Even the worst enemies of Mr. Davis, at the North, must blush at so needless and so wicked an assault. It only can find its parallel in the manifest desire, on the part of Mr. Holden, to fix in the minds of his readers, as he does in the same paper, the impression that Mr. Davis was actually accessory to the assassination of Mr. Lincoln—an idea so improbable, so wholly unfounded, that no upright man anywhere would risk his reputation for honorable dealing by its utterance.

Seventh Congressional District.

Montreville Patton, Esq., of Buncombe, and Gen. S. F. Patterson, of Caldwell, have been selected, by the District Convention which assembled in Asheville, on the 28th. ult., as the delegates from the seventh Congressional District to the Philadelphia Convention. The alternates are Col. W. H. Thomas, of Jackson, and Col. R. W. Pulliam, of Buncombe.

The New Orleans Riot.

The order of the President, which we published yesterday, has effectually quelled the treasonable attempt to subvert the government of Louisiana, by the exhumation of the extinct Convention of 1864. It reminds one forcibly of former times to see the military commanded to support the civil power, instead of overthrowing it. That the illegal and outrageous re assembling of this most odious and disgraceful body of men was known in advance, and approved by the Radicals in Congress, is plainly shown in the remarks made by Mr. Boutwell, of Massachusetts, in the caucus of Radicals held in Washington on the 13th July:

"Mr. Boutwell, of Massachusetts, said he thought it very desirable that Congress should continue in session for other reasons than those which had been suggested. He would mention one. A distinguished gentleman from the South was in town, from whom he had learned that the Louisiana Convention would meet on the 30th. for the revision of the State Constitution, and that amendments would be adopted disfranchising the rebel and enfranchising the loyal inhabitants, without distinction of color. If Congress should be in session when this Constitution should be adopted, it could, in accordance with the precedent established in the Rhode Island case, accept it, and thus give it validity as the Constitution of the State. In the Rhode Island case the Supreme Court decided that it was for Congress to decide which was the constitutional government of any State in which doubts existed. If Congress should not be in session a long time must elapse before action could be taken; the new government of the State might fail to get a foothold, and the country would experience a very serious calamity."

What a blessing to the nation that the Congress, the majority of which consists of such revolutionists as this Mr. Boutwell, is not now in session. It would greatly aggravate the nation by the plots and schemes it would at once set on foot to embarrass the President and encourage the lawless desperadoes of Louisiana.

The New York Herald says:

"The evidence that the radicals are directly responsible for the New Orleans riots is daily accumulating. Not only do we know that the radical leaders were informed of the design beforehand, but we can see traces of their work throughout the whole disturbance, and their organs have already made manifest the object at which they aim. The men foremost in the riots are by no means unknown. They were at Washington during the winter, openly denouncing the President, talking in the most violent, abusive and revolutionary manner, holding councils with the radical leaders and boasting of what they would do in Louisiana to assist Congress in its crusade against the conservative sentiment of the country. The whole affair at New Orleans is a radical electioneering trick, got up to divert the attention of the people from the real issues of the fall campaign. It is the old dodge of "bleeding Kansas" in a new form."

Hon. D. L. Swain,--The Test Oath.

The following letter from Gov. Swain appears in the Standard of this morning, and will explain itself:

MESSRS. W. W. HOLDEN & SON:

Gentlemen:—I have read with surprise your reference to me, in your paper of the 28th., as authority for the opinion of Mr. Seward in relation to the test oath. I have no means of arriving at a conclusion on this subject, which are not open to all newspaper readers. My own opinions in opposition to the constitutionality and expediency of this measure have been frequently and freely expressed, orally and in writing, at home and abroad, and, among others, to the Secretary of State.

I had three interviews with Mr. Seward during my visit to Washington in March last,—two in his office, confined entirely to matters of business, and a third at his house, whither I was accompanied by two friends from this State, in whose veracity and integrity I have entire confidence. I went by invitation. I conversed with him freely on this occasion in relation to the condition of things in North Carolina.—Their hearing was more acute than mine, and what inferences they may have drawn from anything that occurred, I have no means of knowing. No information that you possess on the subject has emanated from me, either directly or indirectly. Yours very respectfully,

D. L. SWAIN.

Chapel Hill, July 31, 1866.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—The following is the complete delegation from this State to the Philadelphia Convention: For the State at large: Messrs. Orr, Perry, Campbell and Manning.—From first Congressional district: Messrs. R. Dozier and F. J. Moses, Sr.; from second district, Messrs. W. P. Shingler and Thos. Y. Simmons; from third district, Messrs. D. L. Wardlaw and S. McGowan; from fourth district, Messrs. T. N. Dawkins and Jas. Farrow.

The Southern States to vote in the Presidential Election.

The following pointed remarks occur in an editorial in the President's organ of Wednesday last:

"It will be recollected by our readers who have kept the run of this paper, that we intimated a suspicion several months ago that the Radical members of Congress had entered into a conspiracy against the Constitution, to shut out the electoral vote in 1868 of certain southern States, and that about a month ago we stated more clearly what it was. As no Senator, Representative, or Radical newspaper has presumed to deny the allegation, we take it to have been true.

"It is a plot that cannot be carried out with impunity. We do not believe it can be consummated without bloodshed. At all events, if the electorial votes of the States thus unlawfully excluded will elect a candidate for President, who shall not be elected without them, the people will find a way to have them counted, by putting the proper President elect into the executive office and maintaining him there, by force it necessary.

"The exclusion of ten States from representation in Congress goes to the utmost verge of public forbearance. No further outrage can, in our opinion, be superadded to it without breaking the public peace and exposing the country to the horrors of another civil war, in which the people of the excluded States would have the sympathy of the civilized world."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON.—The Washington Union of Wednesday evening says:

The President is in fine health and is cheerful and hopeful in the entire success of his patriotic plan to restore peace, happiness, prosperity, and Union "throughout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof."

The Index says that twenty-one desperate young men were married in Petersburg last month. What about the young ladies?

[PUBLISHED BY REQUEST OF CITIZENS OF ALAMANCE.]

Remarks of Dr. J. A. Moore, OF ALAMANCE,

At Low's Church, in Guilford County, on the Ninetieth Anniversary of American Independence, July 4th, 1866.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—It was not my purpose, nor am I prepared, to make a single remark on the present occasion, much less to address this large, intelligent and appreciative audience, on the grand gala day of American Independence. Had I the ability or command of language to do so, it would be vain and presumptuous in me to attempt to add anything to the very able oration of the gentleman (Gen. Gilmer,) who has just preceded me. But I cannot let this opportunity pass, without returning my sense of acknowledgement to this audience, and the Committee who have solicited me, since my arrival in your midst, to address you on this occasion, as we propose to commemorate, with sacred reverence, the birth-day of this great American Republic. This, and this alone, commands my presence before this audience.

On this day, this memorable Fourth of July, ninety years ago, our forefathers met under the infliction of the oppressive and tyrannical yoke of Great Britain, to devise ways and means to redress the grievances imposed upon them by the land from which they claimed equal rights, and to which they then owed allegiance. This deliberation culminated in the declaration of American Independence, for the faithful maintenance of which they pledged their lives, fortunes and sacred honors; and after seven years of bloodshed and carnage, of ruin and devastation, of hope and despair, to make good this declaration, they had the joy and satisfaction of seeing their efforts crowned with success.—Although their land had been drenched in blood, their cities had been sacked and their country laid waste by the ravages of a cruel and bloody war, yet, beyond this dark cloud of misery, ruin and misfortune, arose in gigantic splendor the bright sun of American Independence, whose effulgent rays carried to their battle-worn hearts the hopeful assurance that, at no distant day, their's would become the land of the olive and the vine, where the citizens of every clime and the child of every creed could find beneath her banner, in peace, a home,—to roam as free and untrammelled as the wild winds of Heaven.—Baptized in the streams of liberty, in fire and in blood, they learned, from sad experience, the memorable fact, that a nation's cost should be a nation's glory.

This was their incentive for future action.—This was the proud spirit which animated the hardy sons of the thirteen colonies to look forward through the misty future to a period of National greatness and renown, when, under wise legislation, the footprints of freedom, the landmarks of civil liberty, and the home of the oppressed, should never be obliterated. This spirit developed itself under the azure skies of republican liberty, until America became the land of the muse, the home of oratory, the dwelling place of the historian and the hero. Her scenes of classic recollection, her bright and sunny days of prosperity, associated with her revolutionary memories, made her a bright star in the canopy of nations. The noble, the ignoble, the great and the small, around whom she threw her peaceful protection, sat down under their own vine and fig tree and no one dared to molest or make them afraid. This was America in her palmy days, in her days of peace and prosperity, before the corruption and depravity of her sons, in high places, under the baneful influence of demagogism, preyed upon the vitals of that Constitution handed down to us by the valor and wisdom of Washington.

This was America, when the nations of the earth stood aghast at the gigantic strides she made in all that ennobles human kind. This was America, before the withering touch of civil war blasted with fire and sword that fair portion of our common country known as the sunny South. This was America, before she had waxed fat in prosperity, and presumption had made her proud and forgetful of those civil rights and securities thrown around her in the dark and bloody days of this nation's birth, by those revolutionary sires who fought, suffered, bled and died for that precious boon, civil liberty,—a portion of which we now enjoy, and under whose solemn auspices we have met to commemorate the ninetieth anniversary of American independence. This was America, the land of the brave, once the home of the free, until fanaticism found a dwelling place among the granite hills of New England, and disunion a resting place in the sunny South.—These discordant elements, antagonistic to each other, fed by the flames of human passion, bursted forth into a wild and impetuous revolution, whose onward march to destruction broke the safe-guards of civil liberty and carried over the precipice the rights and institutions of the South.

And I proclaim here, to-day, near the memorable spot on the banks of the Alamance, the opening scene of the first revolution, and on which the first American blood was spilled in these United States, in opposition to the oppressive power of Great Britain, and to establish the independence of the American people, that the South was not alone to blame for her thousands martyred sons, her ruined prosperity and the unhappy condition of this once proud and prosperous people. I make this declaration with every consideration of respect for those who differ with me in opinion. I am an American citizen, proud of the land of my birth and loyal to her cause. But I will never consent to the admission that North Carolina's brave and gallant sons, who suffered for four long and bloody years in a vain but what they conceived to be a just and righteous cause, and who feasted by the thousand at the banquet of death, are guilty of treasonable wrongs, or that her living to-day are not loyal to the American Union, to whose constituted authorities they have surrendered in good faith.

What America was, America may be again, under wise and prudent counsels to direct and a magnanimous spirit to forgive. The deep furrows made by the ploughshare of war will be effaced by the revolution of time, and the growing element of national prosperity—the native instinct of American genius. The demoralization of society, the natural consequence of revolution, will give way before the rising sun-beam of Christian virtue and a returning sense of virtuous ambition. And on the ruins of the old temple of freedom will arise the new, in gigantic grandeur, like the last mountain of the deluge, based upon a foundation of eternal devotion and cemented by the blood of heroes and patriots, that no time can crumble, persecution shake or fanaticism disturb; but will stand as a monument of civil liberty until the wheels of time shall cease to move. Let us, then, be helpers in this great work. Let progression in national prosperity, based upon the true principles of a free government, be our watchword.

Let us remember that this land is a heritage bought with a price, that we are to embellish and transmit it to posterity, that they may sit in judgment upon the fruits of our labor. And America will become, what she is destined to be, the greatest among the great, from whose eternal hills of liberty the watchman will proclaim that the wounds of the past are healed and the troubled waters of discord have dried up, and all is peace, glory and prosperity.

Then the happy children of regenerated and reconstructed America will sing the songs of liberty around the resting places of their brave and gallant dead, and the places where they now sleep, embalmed in robes of honor, will be preserved from ruin and decay by monuments of memory more durable than blocks of marble or walls of stone. At each returning spring time, the fair daughters of America will dedicate anew their affection around the tombs of the gallant dead, and keep green the fields of memory by floral decorations. Long may our country flourish! Long may her name be the pride and glory among the nations of the earth!

DIED.

AYER'S AGUE CURE,
FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF

Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

FEVER and Ague is not the only consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, in malarious districts, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and thus cures them all alike. It is not only the most effectual remedy ever discovered for this class of complaints, but it is the cheapest and moreover is perfectly safe. No harm can arise from its use, and the patient when cured is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease. Can this be said of any other cure for Chills and Fever? It is true of this, and its importance to those afflicted with the complaint cannot be over estimated. So sure is it to cure the Fever and Ague, that it may be truthfully said to be a certain remedy. One Dealer complains that it is not a good medicine to sell, because one bottle cures a whole neighborhood.

BATTLE'S DIGEST.

The Digest of all the reported law cases in North Carolina, from the earliest period to the present year, is now nearly ready for the binder. It will consist of about 1200 pages, including the table of cases, &c.—The book has been so arranged that it can be bound in one volume, or in two, according to the preference of the purchaser.

The cost of publication has been greater than was expected, in consequence of the book being larger, and it is ascertained that the author cannot afford to charge less than $15 for the volume or volumes of the Law, and $10 for the Equity volume to be paid on or before the delivery of the volumes respectively. The work, though containing much more matter, will cost but little more in currency, than was formerly charged in gold or its equivalent for the aggregate of Iredell's and Jones's Digest.

When a purchaser wants an interleaved copy, he will so state in his order for the work. There will be an additional price of one dollar for such copy.

We have consented to act as agents for Judge Battle in the sale of the Digest, and now solicit immediate orders, accompanied with directions as to how the book shall be bound, &c.

The printing of the Equity volume will be commenced without delay.

PROSPECTUS.

This company owns by warranty title nearly fourteen thousand acres of mineral lands, situated in the counties of Chatham, Moore, Rockingham and Stokes, on the waters of Deep and Dan Rivers, in North Carolinia, which abound in plentiful deposits of coal, copper, iron, salt, and, there is every reason to believe from general and surface indications, petroleum or coal oil.

The services of two practical and efficient men, experienced in boring for oil, and stimulated by a long course of success in Venango county, Pennsylvania, were secured by the company several months since and they are now on the lands, with the requisite force, tools, steam engine and machinery, boring a well with very flattering prospects of success. The organization of this company effected some time since has now been perfected in legal form, by act of incorporation, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $5 each.

By reference to the valuable and laborious reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and Commodore Wilkes, U. S. Navy, every one interested will be enabled to judge of the value of the large area of territory secured by the North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Co.

It is well known that a superior article of bituminous coal is now being mined in the Deep river coal region, where a portion of the lands are situated, and this company owns property known to be equal if not superior to any on which shafts have been sunk. Copper, iron and salt also abound, and the attention of capitalists has already been directed to this section on account of its value for the above minerals.

Below are given a few extracts from the journals showing that there is no good reason why there should not be as large quantities of oil in the "Old North State" as in other States.

Oil has been struck in Overton county, Tennessee, on the north line of that State, about midway from its eastern border, eighteen miles from the Cumberland mountains.—Christian (Richmond) Observer.

OIL WELLS IN WEST VIRGINIA.—The Parkersburg Times gives an astonishing statement of the yield of wells in the region thereabout, consisting of Wood, Wirt, Ritchie and other counties, viz: Burning Springs, 2,500 barrels per day; White Oak, 1,500; Lick Run, 300; Horse Neck, 150; and of the several wells on Hughes river, 6,000 barrels per day. The quality is said to be remarkably fine. The Times considers the oil of West Virginia the best yet discovered.

THE OIL EXCITEMENT IN ILLINOIS.—The oil excitement in Clark county is still high. Some eight or ten derricks are up and at work. The deepest well is only 325 feet, with a fair yield of oil. Some of the other wells have struck oil and gas at from 70 to 100 feet.—Much time and money will be spent this summer in the thorough development of the oil resources of Clark county. Men of capital and experience seem confident that oil will be found in large quantities, and are willing to test their faith by a free expenditure in developing the lands. The first company who bored on the land of Hon. T. R. Young, are now engaged in trying to raise the auger which was lost last fall. The Eastern Illinois Company will begin work in a few days twelve miles southwest of the first well. The prospect in that locality is good.—Chicago Tribune.

It is known that after a few months boring in the vicinity of Lynchburg, a large vein of oil was struck and a productive well is now in successful operation. This is on the same line with, and about 80 miles from, the company's first well on Dan River, where the indications both general and particular are similar.

In order to have sufficient means to develop this valuable property in such a manner as to insure success, the Directors have authorized 10,000 shares of the capital stock to be sold to raise a working capital, and subscriptions for that number or any part thereof will be received.

An uncommonly favorable opportunity for investment is thus afforded, as those who choose to buy stock under this offer will have the advantage of an equal footing with the original corporators in an enterprise which, after the example of the immense profits realized in those of a similar character in other States, though in many respects on less favorable conditions than this, (compare the extent, cheapness and fee simple title of the basis of operations here offered) gives reasonable assurance of the most lucrative results. In many instances in sections of less favorable oil localities, shares have advanced in a few days from $2 or $5 to $20 and even $50, and poor men who made small investments realized fortunes.

Further information may be had at the office of the company, one door north of the Court House, Greensboro, N. C., where books of subscription are now open.

By order of the Directors.

THE SENTINEL.

Saturday Evening, August 4, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Pulliam, Jones & Co., announce currants, layer raisins, sweet oil, &c.

The Exchange Hotel, under the auspices of Jno. M. Blair, late of the Eagle Hotel, Ashville, has been entirely renovated and re-furnished, and is now open for the accommodation of the public. Mr. Blair has the reputation of being one of the first Hotel managers and caterers in the South, and will doubtless make the Exchange equal, in all respects, to what he promises.

THE ELECTION.—We subjoin such returns as have reached us of the result of the election for the ratification or rejection of the new Constitution:

	RATIFICATION.	REJECTION.
Raleigh, (close of 2d day,)	103	33
High Point, (" 1st ")	15	45
Jamestown, " " "	24	55
Charlotte, " " "	69	11
Goldsboro', " " "	4	103
Hillsboro', " " "	5	75

The polls, throughout the State, will be closed this evening. The indications are that the vote has been exceedingly meagre.

WE ARE REQUESTED to announce that there will be a meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association at the Lecture-room of the Baptist Church, on Monday evening next, at 8 o'clock.

THE DETENTION on the N. C. R. R., on yesterday, was caused by the derangement of some portion of the machinery of the engine. We are happy to learn that the rumor, that was prevalent, of an accident, by which life was lost, was altogether unfounded.

THE STAY LAW.—We have received, and shall publish in our next, the remarks of Judge Howard, in the late Convention, on the subject of the Stay Law.

GOOD BREAD.—We have been using, for some time, Worcester's Dry Hop Yeast, sold by J. Brown, Esq., with Hart and Lewis, and we unhesitatingly express the opinion, that we have had better, sweeter bread, uniformly, than we have ever had before. We advise all to try it. We believe it is cheaper and better than yeast usually made at home.

GOV. PICKENS and family, of South Carolina, and Dr. R. W. Gibbs, of the same State, and late Editor of the South Carolinian, were in this city on yesterday. They stopped at the Exchange.

ON SATURDAY last the people of Williamston, Martin county, received their first United States mail since 1861.

REVENUE COLLECTION.—The Newbern Times is officially informed that the Internal Revenue collections, for the months of June and July, at that port and at Beaufort, amount to $33,402.

JNO. L. T. SNEAD, ESQ., of Somerville, Tenn., a native North Carolinian, proposes to publish a volume of biographical sketches of eminent jurists, scholars and statesmen of this State.—The work will be entitled "Gaston and his Cotemporaries," and among other characters sketched will be those of Judges Gaston, Haywood, Taylor, Henderson, Nash, Stanly and Badger. Mr. Snead says that his object is "to rescue from oblivion the names of many distinguished North Carolinians now deceased, who were cotemporaries of the eminent jurist whose name the book will bear." He will also give notices of many of the living celebrities of our State, and, as Mr. Snead is said to be every way equal to the task he has undertaken, the book will doubtless prove a valuable acquisition to our State biographical literature.

THE UNIVERSITY.—We are greatly pleased to learn that the University has commenced its new Collegiate year with the most encouraging promise. Ninety-five students are in attendance, with the probability of additions. This will be gratifying intelligence to the friends of education and of the University. We trust that the day is not remote when, under the auspices of its able Faculty, this time-honored institution shall attain, and surpass, its former prosperity and usefulness.

We ask the attention of our Israelitish friends to the communication of Mr. H. C. Jones, of Rowan, to be found in another column. He was the author of the clause in the amended Constitution of 1861, which wiped out the blot of intolerance and fully enfranchised the Jews. Too modest to mention it, Mr. Jones was the member who wrote it and handed it to Mr. Badger, and was approved of by Judge Ruffin. The present Constitution contains identically the same phraseology—and consequently our Jewish friends who believe it excludes them are laboring under a misapprehension which we trust this communication from Mr. Jones will entirely remove. Mr. Jones is a lawyer of distinction, and is, as we have above mentioned, the author of the very clause in question, and must be presumed to know of what he writes.—Charlotte Times.

LIBERAL DONATIONS OF BALTIMOREANS.—It is announced in the Central Presbyterian, of Richmond, that Mrs. George Brown, of Baltimore, has given ten thousand dollars to the Union Theological Seminary of Virginia, with the special object of erecting a library building, to be called the "Brown Hall," and that Mr. John L. Weeks, of Baltimore, had contributed two thousand dollars as the foundation of a library fund for the Seminary, the interest to be applied to the purchase of books.

The prisoners in Charleston, whom the civil authorities tried to get out of the clutches of the military, and who were secretly taken from the city a few days ago, were, the Columbia Phœnix declares, sent to the Dry Tortugas for life.

The capture of a slaver in Pensacola Bay has been reported to the Navy Department. The slaver had on board one hundred and fifty freedmen, and was bound for Cuba. Parties in Mobile, New Orleans, and New York, are implicated in this kidnapping affair.

From the New York Tribune.

Mr. Davis.—His Complicity in the Assassination Plot.

A Philadelphia paper publishes the following letter received in that city in reference to the remark made by Jefferson Davis at Charlotte, on receiving the despatch announcing President Lincoln's assassination, as given in the testimony of Mr. Bates during the trial of the assassins. The writer is a Northern man, a near relative of a distinguished officer of the Northern army, and a federal office-holder. He says:

"We have just heard of the surrender of Gen. Lee's army. The Methodist missionary who first brought the news, narrowly escaped the guard-house when he related it. Soon after a cavalry escort approached the town, headed by a civilian, soon recognized as Mr. Davis. He stopped at the house of Mr. Bates, an agent of Adams Express Company, where he had been invited by telegraph. I was within a few feet of the door when he alighted from his horse, and, ascending the steps, he made a short address. Not a word was said about Mr. Lincoln's death, for nothing of it was then known. The door of the house being locked, there was a slight delay afterward.

"As he remained in this position, an agent of the telegraph office passed me, carrying a despatch which had anticipated the arrival of Mr. Davis. When the envelope was opened, Mr. Davis read the note with earnest and grave concern, and turning to a gentleman—Mr. Wm. Johnson—standing nearest him, he handed it to him and remarked, 'This is a very extraordinary communication.' No other word was uttered by him. As soon as it was glanced over, the gentleman inquired, 'Shall I read it to the people?' Without a word of reply, seemingly occupied with sad and serious thoughts, Mr. Davis moved on one side to make room for the gentleman, who read aloud the despatch announcing the assassination of President Lincoln at the theatre in Washington, at ten o'clock, at night, and a simultaneous attempt upon the life of the Secretary of State, Mr. Seward.

"Not another word was said and there was no note or appearance of exultation among a large crowd of soldiers and civilians, whose countenances I regarded attentively. All were silent with surprise, astonishment, or doubt. For my own part, I did not credit the despatch. The next morning early, I went with a friend to see Mr. Davis, in order to thank him for his kindness to one of my family, whom he had permitted to pass the lines to visit her brother, Major General ——, U. S. A., at that time stationed below Richmond. In the course of the conversation I asked Mr. Davis if he credited the report of the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. He replied gravely, in his usual manner, that he could not regard it as a mere report, for he had received the despatch from Gen. Breckinridge, who, he had reason to believe, was in communication with General Sherman's headquarters, whence the information was directly obtained.

"He said: 'He considered it, if true, the most unfortunate occurrence for the South, at a moment when Mr. Lincoln had expressed a disposition to accept or offer favorable terms.' It is generally acknowledged and known here that nothing could be more unlike an expression of exultation or satisfaction than the demeanor and language of Mr. Davis on this subject. The very contrary can be proved by several who have conversed with him, who were much more intimate with him than I. I write this to you as a simple act of justice to Mr. Davis, in reference to his position, without political or sectional bias of any kind, which I strive to avoid."

GENERAL NEWS.

The "Southern" Republican Union Convention, representing Southerners exclusively, will be attended by Horace Greely, Charles Sumner and John W. Forney. Mr. Greely will represent North Carolina, where he was married; Mr. Sumner, Mississippi, where there are most negroes, and Mr. Forney, the State of Canvasbacks, Maryland.

"I know every rock on the coast," cried an Irish pilot. At that moment the ship struck, when he exclaimed, "and that's one of them."

The Secretary of the Interior has received, from a gentleman in New Jersey, samples of paper from sedge grass, a grass which grows in great abundance upon all tide-water flats. The paper is very white and clear, and will undoubtedly prove a good substitute for ordinary writing paper made of cotton or linen rags. It is estimated that it can be manufactured for twenty per cent. less than any variety now in use, and this circumstance alone renders this discovery a great importance to the interests of the country.

The Petersburg Express states that the body of a Confederate soldier was disinterred there a few days since for removal South, and the face presented the beauty it wore when first dead, unimpaired by either worm or decay.

Mr. Henry W. Veazy, of Norfolk, took a spoonful of medicine from a vial prepared for his business partner, just to convince the latter that it was not bad to the taste, and died in a short time afterwards from the effects.

Gen. Hood was feted at Richmond, Texas. In a speech at that place he endorsed perfect submission and a dignified endurance of all wrongs. He advised the people to build school-houses, churches and railroads.

Notwithstanding the announcement that the Atlantic cable was open for business was only made on Tuesday afternoon, there were twenty messages received from Europe on that day, and the cash receipts therefrom at the New York office $3,046 in gold.

Nineteen messages were filed in the New York office yesterday for transmission through the cable to Europe, on which tolls were paid, to the amount of $2,157 in gold.

The National Executive Committee will be in session at the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, from Friday, the 10th of August, until the meeting of the Convention. They request that the full names of all delegates, with the post-office address, shall be immediately forwarded, and that they will report in person on arriving in that city.

Before a military commission convened at Richmond, Va., pursuant to orders from Headquarters of the Department of Virginia, Wm. O. Waid, a civilian, was tried upon the charge of murder, and found guilty. He was sentenced to be hung, but was subsequently examined by a board of medical officers, who certified that he was insane. He was thereupon released and committed to the custody of his family, that he might receive suitable care.

Notwithstanding the wreck of the Ephesus, Col. Lamb will proceed to Europe by the first steamer, and will continue his endeavors to establish permanently direct communication by steam between Norfolk and Liverpool.

The Ephesus, it appears, went ashore on Sable Island in a fog, on the night of Friday, 6th of July, and, notwithstanding a heavy sea, the passengers and crew were landed in small boats without difficulty. Col. Lamb lost his baggage.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MAJOR-GENERAL M. L. SMITH.—This gentleman, who was at the close of the war chief engineer of General Lee's army, and recently appointed engineer of the railroad from Selma to Dalton, died at the Tennessee House, in this city, on Sunday morning. He had a violent attack of inflammation of the bowels on Friday morning, and no medicine had the effect to abate the disease.—Rome (Georgia) Courier, July 31.

GROWTH OF CATHOLICISM IN THE UNITED STATES.—At the laying of the corner-stone of a new Catholic church, in Detroit, Michigan, on the 22d instant, it was stated by Rev. Mr. Kilroy in his sermon, that eighty years ago there were but sixty thousand Catholics and twenty-five priests in the United States, while now there are four million four hundred thousand members of the church and two thousand five hundred priests, and that the present bishop has founded no less than six churches, and has added forty priests during his ministry.

A New Era In Medicine!

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

L. S. JAMES SMEITER,
Notary Public,
Wall Street, New York.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Gerrick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

THESE famous remedies, known throughout the great West of the United States for their extraordinary cures of

are now thoroughly introduced in the State of North Carolina, and can be obtained of all enterprising, first class druggists.

They act as a tonic to all debilitated systems, taken in doses of

One Pill Three Times A Day,

before meals, and should be found in every family residing in miasmatic districts.

To any skeptic or one who does not believe in these marvellous preparations,

A Box Will be sent Free

If he is not cured with one and not more than two boxes, no charge will be made. The price of the Pills is high—say but as they are a perfect cure without trouble or inconvenience, the charge is reasonable enough.

CAUTION.

Watch narrowly and guard yourselves vigilantly against counterfeits. I have just suppressed a notorious counterfeit in Wisconsin, after much trouble and expense. Purchase of only first class druggists and never of peddlars or traveling dealers.

VALUABLE FLORIDA FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my tract of land for sale, lying in Columbia County, four miles west of Lake City, Fla., containing.

Twelve Hundred Acres.

Three hundred of which is cleared and in fine condition for cultivation. A good portion of the tract both cleared and uncleared, is fine hammock land, rendering it quite a valuable tract. Besides, it has on it a two story framed dwelling, with nine rooms and a piazza sixty feet long, double kitchen, smoke house, negro cabins, corn cribs, stables, carriage house, several large granaries, wagon sheds, three wells of water, [one of them the best water in all that section of country,] sixty orange trees in the yard, and an orchard of two hundred peach trees.

The location is a pleasant one and as healthy as any part of any other State. All the advantages of this farm combined renders it one of the few really valuable and desirable homes offered for sale.
